Jonathan Hopkins
Principal and Founder

Jonathan Hopkins is a national transit campaign and congestion reduction expert with experience leading public-private partnerships for more accessible and connected cities. An Army veteran, Jonathan has held policy or leadership roles at Uber, Lime, Commute Seattle and Brightline. He also led Seattle Subway's successful efforts to pull off Seattle's transformative $54 billion ST3 transit measure in 2016. Now leading Smart Mobility Associates, he advises, assists, and operates Transportation Management Associations and other P3 partnerships for thriving cities. He is based in Miami.
